Salem Kite Day

This is a fun family event for all. Staff from the Blue Hill Observatory Science Center will teach an educational kite making workshop that will focus on math, history, physics and kite stories. One kite kit will be provided per family. After your kite is created, join us in flying your kite for all to see.

Saturday, November 12th 10:00am -12:00pm
Forest River Park Education Room in the pool house.
$20.00 per family. Register at salemma.myrec.com

Jim McAllister Lecture

Local historian Jim McAllister explores the contributions made by some of Salem senior citizens over the centuries in various fields of endeavor and walks of life. While some names— John Betram, Elizabeth Peabody and Dr. Edward Holyoke will be familiar to many area residents, other contributors will be getting their long overdue moment in the sun.

Monday, November 14th
10:00-11:00am
Community Life Center
Register with Rosanna at

Thanksgiving Cheer for Salem Seniors

Send Salem Seniors some Thanksgiving cheer! We will be collecting Thanksgiving cards that will be delivered to home-bound seniors on Thanksgiving Day. Cards can be dropped off at the Community Life Center until Tuesday, November 22nd.

We are also offering free card making kits while supplies last. Please call Caroline at 978-744-0924 to reserve a kit.

The Salem Council on Aging is thrilled to have local author and poet, Julian Collins with us to offer a 6 week Creative Writing Workshop. The Workshop is comprised of writing prompts, in-class writing, sharing with the class and some home writing. All supplies are included. Both beginners and experienced writers are welcome.

Mondays, November 14th—December 19th 1-2pm
Register with Rosanna at 978-744-0924.

The Friends of the Salem Council on Aging are sponsoring home delivered Thanksgiving dinners to those seniors who are isolated and alone or do not have family and friends who can deliver or share a meal. The Friends are working with Brother's Taverna to provide the dinner. Dinners will be delivered by a volunteer on Thanksgiving morning. Contact Rosanna at 978-744-0924 no later than Friday, November 18th to register for a meal. We appreciate the generosity of the Friends of the Salem Council on Aging during this great time of need.

After School Drama Club
